

Full reproducibility requires the possibility to recreate the system that was originally used to generate the results.

Managing software environments with

